AXA Virtual Day of Giving benefits Somerset children

Raritan – Parents with small children are challenged to find engaging activities during the current crisis, but thanks to the generosity of AXA XL Commercial Property & Casualty Insurance Company’s Virtual Day of Giving Project, the mothers and children at Alternatives’ Franklin House have a new way to spend their days.

Alternatives is the grateful beneficiary of 65 story-time recordings for the children living at Franklin House, courtesy of the AXA XL’s Virtual Day of Giving Project. “These stories will provide many hours of enjoyment to the children of Franklin House, as well as for future children who will be served by the program,” said Alternatives’ President, Nancy Good. “This kind of generosity keeps us all motivated to continue the good work we do for those in need in our community, especially during such challenging times.”

Franklin House is a shelter for displaced women and their children, located in Somerset County. AXA XL is a subsidiary of global insurance and reinsurance company, AXA, which is headquartered in Connecticut and has more than 100 branches on six continents. For more information visit www.axaxl.com.
